

MOTHER PLEADS FOR SLAYER SON

Chair Shadows Son—Justice wept behind her blindfold today as Mrs. Alexander Green pleaded with Governor Saltonstall for the life of her son, Wallace, doomed in $3.50 Somerville slaying of storekeeper. "As God is my judge, my son was home," she cried.

British Open Drive On I. R. A. Bombers

LONDON, July 28 (AP)—Sixteen thousand police were mobilized for a swift, country-wide roundup of suspected Irish Republican army terrorists.

Those arrested were to be deported under Britain's new anti-violence act or questioned in connection with recent bombings.

Twenty-one persons were wounded and one died as the result of two bomb explosions in London Wednesday. There were three blasts that day in Liverpool.

Special powers for expulsion of suspected terrorists went into effect when an emergency measure received the King's assent through royal commission in the House of Lords.

Before the measure was passed by the lords Lord Sempill proposed that 10 strokes of the birch be added to the penalties it contained.

The amendment was discarded, however, when Lord de la Warr, president of the board of education, said the bill was intended to prevent crimes—not to deal with offenses committed, which were punishable under normal law.

Tenors were barred from the House of Parliament over the so-called as a precautionary measure.

Three men asked yesterday by Scotland Yard were arraigned on charges of illegally possessing explosives.

"As God is my judge," the weeping mother, Mrs. Alexander Green, said: "My boy was home with his father and me at the time the murder was committed. We all sat together listening to the radio.

"Governor, you have children of your own.
"All I ask is that you give my son the same consideration you'd give your own boy under the same terrible circumstances.

The governor took today's pleas under advisement, announcing he would make his decision at noon Tuesday, August 1.

That will be the first day of the week during which 21-year-old Green and his convicted fellow-slayer, Walter St. Sauveur, 22, are scheduled to die in the electric chair.

They were found guilty of the fatal shooting of William Phillips, Somerville variety store proprietor. ASK LIVES BE SPARED

After several previous stays of sentence, the doomed pair finally won another last respite when the electric chair was found to need repairs which took almost two months.

As Green's parents were begging life imprisonment instead of the death chair for him today, St. Sauveur, in a passionate outburst in his cell at Charlestown state prison, spurned executive clemency.

"I didn't do the killing they've pinned on me, but if I can't go free I'd rather sit in the hot seat and get it over with," he stormed.

"At least, I'll have the satisfaction of knowing Green will be taking the last walk right along with me.

"He could tell the truth and save me, but he won't."

Attorney George B. Lourie, representing St. Sauveur, said he would seek a commutation of sentence for his doomed client, even over the latter's protest.

HEAVY DOWNPOUR IN PARTS OF N. E.

Torrential rain fell in parts of New England today as weather bureau meteorologists forecast an end to the 29-day drouth within 24 hours.

The sun still shone in Boston, however.

Record-shattering rains doused southern Maine, flooding cellars in homes and converting streets into miniature rivers.

At noon four inches of rain had fallen in Portland. Weather Bureau forecasters, describing it as the heaviest precipitation in two years and the heaviest for any July on record, said the rain would continue today and tomorrow.

Severe thunderstorms were reported in northern New Hampshire and a heavy rain fell overnight at Concord, N. H. Heavy showers also were reported at Keene and Hillsboro.

The official recorder at Winter Hill Observatory, in Worcester, showed precipitation of three-quarters of an inch from 10:15 to 11 a. m. Clifford L. Davis, meteorologist, predicted the showers would continue tonight.

The downpour in Worcester's Webster square district flooded Main street to the top of curbing, stalled cars and flooded sewers.

Meteorologists at the Boston Weather Bureau, forecasting that local showers would be general over New England, said: "Some spots will be pretty wet and others will get very little. You can be pretty sure, however, that somebody will be very well pleased. The best we can say is that New England will get hit with some water, but just where we can't tell."

JAPAN WEIGHS SMASHING 9-POWER PACT TO HIT U.S.

TOKYO, July 28 (AP)—Abrogation of the nine-power treaty "without further ado" was suggested today by the newspaper Kokumin, considered the organ of the army and ultra-nationalist elements, in an angry editorial on United States' denunciation of the Japanese trade treaty.

"Such a reckless act of hostility toward Japan by the United States has aroused sharp resentment," said Kokumin.

"Opinion is rising in favor of abrogation of the nine-power treaty without further ado. In that case the United States should be prepared to face a situation wherein her rights and interests in China can no longer be tenable."

Signed in Washington Feb. 6, 1922, by the United States, China, Japan, Britain and five other powers, the nine-power treaty pledged its signatories to respect China's integrity and to "promote intercourse between China and the other powers upon the basis of equality of opportunity."

Reliable sources said Japan would refuse to take the initiative

BETTY SORRY TO DIVORCE 'THE KID'

Orphanage Girl, 14, New Film 'Miracle'

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 28—She once believed herself to be "the loneliest little girl in all the world."

She lived in an orphanage with scores of other little girls, and every day was a fresh heart-break.

She wore a uniform, and marched in line with the others, fighting desperately to keep back the tears.

Now, overnight, she is Hollywood's latest sensation, a star in her very first picture, destined to fame and fortune, with never another money worry to plague her so long as she lives. Blase Hollywood can talk of nothing but the new starlet on its horizon.

The little ex-orphan is Linda Ware. She's 14, and shares top honors with Bing Crosby in "The Star Maker," a Paramount picture, based on the career of Gus Edwards, who discovered more stars than any other single individual—Eddie Cantor, George Jessel, Walter Winchell, George Price, to name but a few.

It is curiously appropriate that she should have such a role, for she, herself, is Hollywood's miracle girl.

HAS A MIRACLE VOICE

Hollywood is waiting to hear her miracle voice—a voice that has a range up, up and up to C above high-C, two full tones higher than Lily Pons' famous "Traviata" aria, and from four to five full tones higher than the average coloratura soprano.

It's that voice, with her beautiful, young face, her little girl figure, and her simple charm that have taken her to the heights. She is Hollywood says, a living exemplification of what natural talent and charm can do in the film capital of the world.

Linda was born in Tarentum, Pa., May 29, 1925, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Washington Sullwaggon. She was christened Beverly. Linda's mother was a singer. She helped eke out the family income by singing in motion picture theaters, at public gatherings. She was lovely, and kind, and Linda loved her very much . . . and she died when Linda was three.

CLAIMED BY KIN

Broken-hearted, Linda's father placed the baby girl in McCullough's Orphanage at Steubenville, O., and there she stayed—a neat little girl, with a broken heart, living as other orphans lived, doing what she was told to do.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sullwaggon, her uncle and aunt, took her from the orphanage to live with them at Detroit.

They were very kind to her, and, as her talent became apparent, encouraged her. Linda can't remember when she started to sing, but by the time she was seven, she was

JACKIE COOGAN, BETTY GRABLE KISS
This Was in Past . . . Divorce Looms Now

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28 (AP)—The marriage of Betty Grable and Jackie "The Kid" Coogan, marked by two separations and a dramatic reconciliation, headed for the divorce courts today.

The shapely blonde actress revealed here last night she would sue for divorce on mental cruelty grounds tomorrow or early next week in Los Angeles.

She completed a personal appearance engagement at the Golden Gate Exposition last night and was Hollywood-bound today to consult her attorney.

Coogan admitted early this week in Hollywood that they had separated for the second time this year, but Betty said it wasn't so and denied divorce plans.

Last night she declared the "confusion" of being here and having her lawyer in Southern California led her to deny the earlier report, and expressed unhappiness over the contemplated divorce.

"I'm not happy about the whole thing at all," she said, "and it is unfortunate it had to be this way. I think I am doing the right thing. I hope so, anyway."

The Coogans first separated when Jackie was on a personal appearance tour. Betty became ill and was operated on for appendicitis. Her husband flew from El Paso to her bedside and a reconciliation followed.

GIRL, 6, KIDNAPED; POLICE SEIZE MAN

HAVERHILL, July 28—Swift drama gave police an unexpected kidnapping mystery here today.

Shortly after 10 o'clock a woman identified by police only as a "Mrs. Woodall," reported to live in Amesbury road, telephoned headquarters here and said she had seen a man kidnap her six-year-old daughter.

Excitedly, she explained she had seen the man take the little one into his car and drive off.

She gave the license number as "1" for the first numeral. She missed the middle numbers, but the last three, she said, appeared to be "101." The child, she said, wore a pink dress.

The alarm was flashed over the telephone to surrounding towns, and Officers John Leary and Ralph Woodman were sent to the house in a cruising car. They reported shortly afterwards that they had found the man and the child in the car, which was being driven back to the Woodall home.

There, for a time, the matter rested as all-mother, man and child, were being questioned.

Later it was said that all would go to headquarters, where the matter would be thrashed out.

GOING Driving ON Sunday?

It is fun to drive away on summer Sundays and stop in to see friends . . . or say "hello" to the family. And it's thoughtful to telephone ahead to make sure they haven't other plans . . . to avoid, too, the disappointment of missing them. To learn the cost of any call, just ask the Long Distance operator. Rates are thrifty any time, and as you probably know, they are especially cheap on Sundays and every night after 7.

Vallee to End 10-Yr. Contract

NEW YORK, July 28 (INS)—Rudy Vallee, whose 10 years in the same radio spot for one sponsor is something of a phenomenon in the radio business, will end his contract on September 24 and take a rest before returning to radio, he announced today.

His present long run on the radio began on October 24, 1929. His plans for the future are indefinite, but he may tour South America and the Continent before resuming his broadcasts, he intimated.

HARLAN, Ky., July 28 (INS)—The mysterious slaying of a wealthy Knoxville, Tenn., couple, shot and killed in ruthless fashion, confronted police today.

The victims, Mr. and Mrs. David Sullins, halted their auto near a filling station at nearby Evans early today, and Sullins left the machine to inquire the route to Black Mountain, police learned. He was confronted by an armed man who shot him through the heart.

Sullins' wife, Dixie Ann, who was seated in the auto, was shot through the head by the same gunman, who then fled.

Authorities said "three or four men" were being held, but refused to reveal their names.

Sullins, 39, was held to a $750,000 estate.

Hunts All Night For Right Roof for Her Death Plunge

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—Sueanna came at last for Mrs. Sophie Beck, 35, after she sat through the night on a lonely roof and then searched all day for "the right building."

She plunged to death last night from the fourth story window of a hotel in Brooklyn. It had been two days since her frantic husband reported her "missing" to the police.

Mrs. Beck, who suffered a nervous breakdown recently, left this note in the hotel room: "With the prospect of a 17-story jump I seem to feel at my best. Have been walking all day trying to find the right building. . . . Will I have the courage? . . . I sat on the roof all night and decided it was too high. It is 6 p. m. now and I must start—either finish—soon."

LEWIS' BLAST AT GARNER MAY CHANGE LAW

Attack to Aid Texan In Race, Say Friends

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—John L. Lewis' denunciation of Vice-President Garner stirred up such a Congressional tempest today that some legislators said it had inspired changes for revision of the eight-hour law at this session.

Lewis was denouncing that Ohio great made his charge at the 20th annual convention of the United Mine Workers of America, which opened today in the city of New York. Lewis, who is a "hard-bitten" union leader, said that Garner was "a man who has no sense of justice."

FEARS THREE CHANGES

Following the CIO leader's speech, there is a possibility that the House will pass a bill to amend the eight-hour law. The bill would provide for a "flexible" eight-hour day, which would allow for a longer day in some cases and a shorter day in others.

A short time later, the Ohio great was back in the news when he said that he was "not a man who has no sense of justice."

President Roosevelt, who has been in the news for some time, was also mentioned in Lewis' speech. Lewis said that Roosevelt was "a man who has no sense of justice."

Lewis also mentioned the "New Deal" in his speech. He said that the "New Deal" was "a man who has no sense of justice."

Mama Takes 'Angell Child' To Maine After Escapades

Carol Woodman's experiment in "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" wound up today as the pert, golden-haired stepdaughter of Yale's president emeritus headed for Maine.

Safe in the company of her mother, Mrs. Katharine Woodman Angell, Carol left her career as a waitress behind, cut short her plan to "stay quite a while" in a Pennsylvania tourist cabin and was on her way to Dr. James Rowland Angell's summer estate at Seal Harbor, Me.

Ten days ago she was fired from her waitress' job in the Wee College Inn at Krumville, Pa., and vanished. When found by reporters in a Pennsylvania tourist cabin, where she was isolated, where she was registered under a fictitious name, "Angell Child" said she liked her little home and would remain indefinitely.

CHANGED MIND

But she changed her mind suddenly when mother showed up. Today she appeared late for a few months, at least, or quiet under the watchful eyes of Dr. and Mrs. Angell.

Her "experiment" started last June when she abruptly ran away from Smith College.

She said she was "fed up" with college boys and social life, wanted to earn her own living, after she was found three weeks later, waitressing in the Pennsylvania inn.

"I think the experience is fine—I'll be here till fall," Angell Child vowed.

Last week, however, she was fired and again disappeared. The proprietors said they let the girl go because too many curious persons came to see her at work, too many college boys came to admire those hazel eyes, chestnut tresses and regular dimples.

HUGS TEDDY BEAR

Found in her tiny tourist cabin, dressed in a lounging robe, she hugged a teddy bear as she admitted her identity to reporters and told them she was "just resting."

"It's real nice and peaceful here," she said. "I've been doing a lot of sleeping, reading and sitting out on the lawn waving to the cops as they drive past."

Delaney Named State WPA Head

President Roosevelt sent to the Senate today the nomination of Denis W. Delaney, World War veteran of Lawrence, to be work project administrator for the state.

Delaney's promotion to state WPA administrator marks the climax of his second struggle to the top.

Beginning his career as a pick and shovel toiler, Delaney, by hard work and thrift, established himself in pre-depression days as an independent contractor.

He was wiped out by the depression, however, and went back to his pick and shovel job—this time as a Civil Works Administration laborer.

In a short time his executive abilities were recognized, and he was made director of the WPA in Norfolk and Middlesex counties.

Later he was made WPA regional engineer in New England. He succeeded Colonel John McDonough, who retains his post of regional director.

Youth Fined $5 For Carrying 17 Pals in His Auto

Alleged to have carried 17 passengers in a light sedan he was driving through Medford square, 18-year-old Leonard P. Palmisano, Windsor road, Medford, was fined $5 in Malden district court today on a charge of unsafe operation of an automobile.

Patrolman Andrew J. Kerwin, Medford, testified he arrested Palmisano after seeing the boy at the wheel of a car with four youths on each running board, three on the back bumper and six inside besides himself.

Palmisano said he was bringing friends back from a swimming party at Wright's pond, according to the officer.

$18,000 Bail For 2 Fleeing With Safe, Loot

Two Allston youths trapped by police after a chase through Brookline and Brighton with a heavy safe tied on an automobile bumper were arraigned in Brighton court today and held in $9000 each on charges of breaking and entering and larceny.

They are George F. Donahue, 17, of Commonwealth avenue, and Thomas D. Timmins, 18, of Adamson street, both of Allston. They had broken into the Atlas Coin Machine Company in Commonwealth avenue, Brookline, and used the company's own hoisting apparatus to lift the safe to the bumper of a car, police said.

The car had been stolen from a Brookline auto dealer, according to police.

Cardboard covered the safe, police said, but it fell off rounding a corner. A startled patrolman, seeing the nature of the odd load, gave the alarm, and a half hour later, after a devious chase through Brookline, police caught up with the youths.

Timmins pleaded guilty on three counts, but Donahue maintained his innocence.

TRAIN CUT PROBE IS VOTED

Proposed abandonment of passenger service on the Old Colony division by the New Haven road, scheduled September 24, will be investigated by the Public Utilities Commission, it was voted today by the commissioners in executive session.

Decision to investigate the abandonment followed receipt of notice from the railroad that it did not intend to apply to the commission for permission to effect the contemplated curtailment.

It also followed public hearings of protest by public officials and citizens in the affected areas on the South Shore, at which Attorney General Paul A. Dever circulated a petition asking the department to initiate the probe and declaring the railroad's failure to notify the public utilities department "defiance" of law.

Ex-Deputy Gives Up in Tax Theft

John F. Traversa of Paul Gore street, Jamaica Plain, all his recent resignation a deputy city tax collector, surrendered to police today on a charge of larceny of $1164. It is charged that he received tax payments, issued receipts, and kept the money. After five taxpayers, who received second notices, had complained to City Collector Merrill Thompson an investigation was begun.

Traversa surrendered to Lieut. James V. Crowley, Sergt. Joseph Condon and Detectives Thomas Conarty and Samuel Di Natale.

Taken to headquarters, he was questioned by Deputy Superintendent James Claffin, to whom he said:

"I have re-neged counsel. He will answer all questions." Conarty told of restitution, explaining that Traversa's interest in his department pension fund approximates $1500, and that he had turned it over. He was then fingerprinted, photographed and taken to court for arraignment.

MARS RECEDES AS DISPLAY IS RUINED BY HAZE

Bitterly disappointed when clouds dashed their hopes of witnessing the unusual proximity of Mars to the earth, local observers today hoped for at least a glimpse of the glowing red star before it moves further into the distant heavens.

Although no scientific observations were planned in New England because the star was so low in the southern horizon, despite its comparative nearness of 38,000,000 miles, astronomical findings on the planet's appearance were eagerly awaited from all parts of the world.

Because of the low-hanging clouds, which presented an unexpected obstacle to any view of the planet locally, casual, non-scientific observers made trips to hilltops and beaches in vain.

In Bloemfontein, South Africa, an American astronomer obtained what he hopes are the first successful color photographs of the mysterious planet.

GOT BEST VIEW

There, on the southern tip of the continent, where the best possible view of the planet is available, Earl C. Slipher of Lowell Observatory Flagstaff, Arizona, snapped a series of color photographs which he hopes may help solve the riddle of the mystery of the "star planet," which scientists believe may be "another earth."

In New Jersey radio station WOR flashed repeated radio signals in the hope they might be picked up by some receiving set on Mars and bring a response.

All in the spirit of fun, the New York World's Fair ordered a "blackout" at 10:15 o'clock last night and sent a squadron of National Guard planes aloft to "defend" the metropolis against eight-legged, enormous-headed "Martian invaders," flying in steel rockets. The most intensely interested of all the spectators were the scientists of the Lowell Observatory at Flagstaff, the world's leading center of Martian studies. As with other observatories, elaborate photographic equipment at the Lowell Institution snapped pictures of Mars continuously.

Dr. Donald H. Menzel, professor of astro-physics at Harvard University, who is regarded as one of the leading experts on Mars, broadcast a lecture on how the planet looks through a 15-inch telescope.

POINT IS DISPUTED

Scientists everywhere are interested in determining whether life of any sort, vegetable, animal or of a nature similar to human, exists on Mars.

One point which they hope to ascertain during the present near approach of the planet is whether a series of straight markings on the planet's surface really represent "canals" as they are called.

The point is disputed. Some scientists deny that they have ever seen the markings and most of those who admit they have are reluctant to admit that they are really artificially constructed waterways.

'Dickinson Good To Find Pitfalls At 80'-Madeleine

NEW YORK, July 28 (INS)—Madeleine Carroll, blonde film star, minted few words today when reporters asked how she felt about Gov. Lauren Dickinson of Michigan, who recently flayed New York as full of "hell's beckonings."

Without a second's hesitation, Miss Carroll said: "If you can find pitfalls at 80, you must be pretty good at it. She arrived here to visit the World's Fair.

CANDID CAMERA CAVALCADE—Those all-seeing photographers of Greater Boston's latest pictorial thrill moved into Somerville yesterday . . . Here are a few of their snaps . . . as the camera men move elsewhere.

DIMPLED KNEES TO STAY BARE

NETTLETON, Ark., July 28 (1939)—Seems like the whole U. S. A. is taking an interest in Mrs. Leslie Alexander's pretty, dimpled knees.

Police kept her telephone bell ringing. Men and women calling up from New York, from California, and from most points in between. And what nearly all of them said was:

"You keep those shorts on. Don't let anybody make you take 'em off and put on skirts if you don't want to."

And dainty Mrs. Alexander, her eyes snapping, would tell them:

"You bet I'm going to keep wearing them. There ought to be a law making women with pretty legs wear shorts in the summer, and I have very pretty legs."

Strangers drove in from miles and miles around. All of them wanted to see Mrs. Alexander, and her shorts, and tell her to keep up the fight.

Local storekeepers telephoned, asking if she would please wear her shorts down to their store when she went shopping. The Nettleton Theater asked her to appear on the stage in them.

Many of the strangers even drove over to see Mayor J. H. Cowell, who caused Mrs. Alexander's arrest and imposed a $50 fine, to protest.

Mrs. Alexander broadcast from Radio Station KETM and received an ovation from a studio audience. The station asked its listeners to vote on the question of shorts for women, and 85 per cent of the replies were enthusiastically in favor of them.

2 Wives, 2 Homes Sum Up to 1 Jail

He didn't explain in Chelsea court how he did it, but Francis J. Maloney, alias Francis J. Martin, readily admitted today that for at least four years he maintained two homes, two wives and a total of five children, all at the same time.

In that one home was in Roxbury and the other in Revere, and neither wife complained today of lack of attention. Maloney, alias Martin, must have been a fairly busy commuter. He also ran an insurance business.

Love's double dream came to an inglorious end the night of July 21 at the Wonderland Dog Track, Revere, when he was spotted by Special Officers Michael J. Foley and Luke Church, who held a non-suspicion warrant for his arrest sworn out by wife No. 1, Mrs. Frances Maloney of Revere.

He was whisked out of the track, and to the Revere police station, where he was locked up. The officers then returned to Wonderland, where they were approached by Mrs. Blanche Martin. "Are you policemen?" she asked.

Told they were, she reported that her "husband," carrying a considerable sum of money, had strangely disappeared. Remembering having seen Maloney, or Martin, with her, the policemen put two and two together, and took her to the station, where wife No. 1 was already waiting.

Wife No. 1, Mrs. Maloney, said they were married 15 years ago, have three children and lived together until he disappeared five years ago.

Wife No. 2, Mrs. Martin, said they were married nine years ago, first in Providence and then in a Somerville church, that they lived in Heath street, Roxbury, and have two children.

Maloney, or Martin, or both, pleaded not guilty to the non-suspicion charge, and was sentenced to a year in the House of correction. Bail on that charge was fixed at $1000 when his lawyer, Harold Sullivan, announced he would appeal.

Martin, or Maloney, or both, then pleaded guilty to a polygamy charge, but Judge McDonald, because of the marriages outside of his jurisdiction, declined jurisdiction.

Unable to make bail Martin, or Maloney, or both, went to jail.

Did you ever get a tag for parking? Did you ever have a hard boiled cop glare at you and bawl you out for parking the family jalopy too long? If you have, then you probably know just how small our buyers felt when our merchandise manager raised the roof about hundreds of items that had parked too long on our floors.

And was our manager tough! He imposed a maximum sentence on each item that had overparked. Every piece was subjected to a substantial fine, which is to be passed over to you, our customers. Come to Summerfield's Friday and Saturday. Deduct the heavy fine on any piece as your saving, and pay only the balance. But hurry! Many items naturally one or few of a kind, so the first comers will have best selection.

TOUR BIDS TURNED DOWN BY FENDLER

BANGOR, Me., July 28—A dozen golden offers for Donn Fendler's appearance at the New York and San Francisco fairs and leading theaters were spurned today by the lad's father, Donald Fendler, New York merchant.

Lost Boy, 8, Saved by His Courage

NORTH KINGSTON, R. I., July 28—An eight-year-old boy, fighting back tears of pain and pangs of terror as he stumbled through a swampy woods...

A 70-year-old man, near collapse from hunger and exhaustion, guiding the child through a black night and pathless woods...

Neither would admit that danger was closing in on them. Neither betrayed the despair that gripped their hearts as the endless hours crept by.

Robert Saulier, the boy, felt pretty proud when William Carpenter, his 70-year-old neighbor, asked him to go picking blueberries just after lunch.

The old man headed into the dank fields east of the Post road, pointing out the best clumps of bushes. To Bobby he was a pioneer, old and wise in the ways of the woods.

The old man felt uneasy as a heavy fog swept in on them just before dusk, shutting their little world into a gray mass of tangled bushes and gnarled trees.

Then came darkness and the old man clutched Bobby's hand, muttering reassuring words.

But Bobby didn't need comfort; he would show that deep woods and darkness held no terrors for his stout young heart.

So the two blundered aimlessly through brambles that tore at their thin shirts and cut into their skins.

Anxious relatives after eight hours, appealed for help, and state troopers with bloodhounds groped into the woods.

No word was heard in the lengthening darkness. Neighbors and volunteers joined in the search, battling their way through the underbrush.

Just after midnight Sergeant Robert E. Burns and troopers came upon the boy and the man in a tangle of underbrush. The old man was bleeding from deep gashes. Bobby was badly scratched.

They took the two home, and Mrs. Albert Saulier gathered her boy into her arms.

"I'm all right," Bobby said, as he was tucked into bed. Bobby didn't cry.

He may be only eight years old, but he was old enough to hear his elders praise Donald Fendler, only four years older, who had wandered for eight days alone through the Maine woods near Mt. Katahdin.

He could be just as brave as Donald. He would! ... And so he was!

Fall in Polo Game Cripples Mdivani

LOS ANGELES, July 28 (AP)—A polo game fall similar to that which killed his brother Serge in 1936 kept David Mdivani in bed today for what a physician said may be a six or eight-week season.

Dr. Harlan Shoemaker predicted a knee fracture suffered Sunday would keep the sportsman out of the game for nine months.

At Eastern Maine General Hospital, where his room is directly across the hall from his son's, Fendler asserted the boy will return to the family's summer camp in Newport, to live "modestly and normally."

The only ceremony of praise for the youngster who battled the dangers of the forest for eight days alone, then found his own way to safety, will take place in the Maine capitol building at Augusta one week from today, August 2.

Governor Lewis O. Barrows will present Donn with a gold medal, gift of the Wells Publishing Company of Wellesley, Mass. On one side of the gold piece is the symbol of Victory and on the other a mountain scene, with the following inscription:

"Awarded to Donn Fendler on August 2, 1933, in recognition of

Radio Comic's Broadcast to Salute Donn

On Sunday, in his 358th broadcast of the Boston Sunday Advertiser comics, over Station WNAC from 10 to 10:30 a. m., Ed (Uncle Bob) Young will salute Donn Fendler, the courageous Boy Scout, who came safely through the eight days' ordeal of wandering in the Maine wilderness.

Because it is conceded the boy's scout training was an important factor in his survival, Uncle Bob will sing the Scout Vesper. It is arranged to the tune of "Maryland, My Maryland."

the fine character, true courage and great faith with which you superbly met and conquered every obstacle through eight days of single-handed combat with a mountain wilderness."

Another honor for the boy will be a national Boy Scout holiday, planned by Scout leaders in Washington as a tribute, as well as a reminder to all Boy Scouts of Donn's bravery and resourcefulness.

Otherwise, the boy will be protected from curious and admiring throngs by his family. His father, being treated for an eye injury received during the search for Donn, declared:

"The boy under no circumstances will go on exhibition anywhere."

Father and son are rapidly recovering from the strain of their eight-day ordeal.

Dr. Albert Felloes, Bangor child specialist, said Donn's condition was "excellent" under the circumstances and described the boy as having "an amazing vitality."

Hospital officials indicated that Donn and his father may be able to leave for their Newport camp tomorrow or Sunday.

Grid Star Newlywed Hunts for Better Job

Chief aim in life of Charles Francis Reed, 19-year-old Salem high school football star and bridegroom of a few hours' standing, is to secure a better paying job so that he can give his 18-year-old bride all the comforts he's been dreaming about since the couple eloped to Seabrook, N. H. Charles is working now as a carpenter's assistant with a Salem contractor, but he is full of ambition. With his pretty brunette bride, the former Shirley Bouchard of Broadway, North Salem, he laid plans today for their future home.

The young couple, boy-and-girl sweethearts during their high school days, eloped to Seabrook, N. H., with two high school friends, and were married July 16 by Judge David Chase. The two friends, Arthur St. Charles, a member of the football squad, and his girl friend, Miss Barbara Scott, were witnesses of the ceremony.

Details of the romantic elopement were described yesterday by the pretty brunette bride, daughter of Mrs. J. P. Bouchard, who is living with her bridegroom at the home of his sister, Mrs. Mae Grant of Mason street.

"Charlie took me to the movies and on that night we decided we were made for each other, and that we would get married when school was over," she said.

"We were afraid our folks would object because we were so young, so we decided to keep it secret, and only told Arthur and Barbara. They went to Seabrook and were witnesses for us. When we got home I couldn't keep the secret, and told my folks. They didn't object; they liked Charlie and were all so happy they went out and bought us a beautiful chest of silver."

MOTHER SOBS PLEA FOR LIFE OF KILLER

tive, a 17-year-old sister, make an appeal for him, Attorney Lourie said.

Mrs. Green, making her personal plea for her son, almost collapsed as she was first ushered into Governor Saltonstall's office.

MOTHER IN TEARS

Previously she had been trying to hold back her tears, dabbing at her reddened eyes with a handkerchief.

Standing before the governor, however, she sobbed hysterically, clinging to her husband's arm for support.

It was some time before she could find her voice to put into faltering words the all-important request she had come to make.

"My son, Wallace, was a good boy until I went to the hospital and couldn't keep an eye on him," she said. "Then he got into bad company."

"But he always worked when he could and turned over every cent of his pay to help his father and me and his eight brothers and sisters."

"He never had a fair chance. We were on welfare and only getting $9 a week to support 11 of us."

Alexander Green, the father, wept a so as he told Governor Saltonstall.

"I'm here to ask you in the name of mercy and in the name of God to save my son's life and prevent a terrible miscarriage of justice."

"The night of the holdup and murder, Wallace was home with his mother and me listening to a broadcast of the Armstrong-Ross prize fight in New York."

"I remember what was said back and forth between my son and me. I can't be mistaken."

"Governor, I want you to give an innocent boy a chance to clear his name of this awful charge."

Speaking for St. Sauveur, Attorney Lourie said there were at least two reasons to doubt he committed the holdup and murder.

LAWYER IN PLEA

He wouldn't have attempted the crime in a store where he was well known and a regular customer, Lourie contended.

And police never broke down St. Sauveur's story of an unidentified "Joe" being the actual slayer, the attorney argued further.

Phillips was shot during a $3.50 holdup in May of 1938. He was riddled with bullets as he vainly battled three bandits, dropping dead just as he succeeded in driving the trio away by hurling soda bottles.

A few days later, two suspects were arrested in the far west and tricked into a confession when shown a fake telegram, supposedly from their accomplice.

Stork on 16th Visit to Home in Somerville

Thelma Bean, 19, and her sister, Agnes, 18, hung out the wash today and readied their Houghton street, Somerville, home for the 16th child in their family.

Their mother, Mrs. William S. Bean, gave birth in Somerville Hospital to a baby boy, her 16th in 26 years of married life.

She's 43. Her husband, a steamfitter, is 48. Thirteen of their children are living.

Oldest child of their family is Mrs. Marion Firth, 24, of Saugus, then comes Mrs. Alice Gallant, of Cambridge. Thelma and Agnes are next and then their oldest brother, Robert, 16, a sister, Estelle, 14, and a brother, James, 11.

After James is Claire, 10; David, 8; Eleanor, 6; Audrey, 4, and Paul, 3.

Mrs. Bean, the former Alice Burnett, was born in Waltham. The parents were married in Charlestown and have lived in Somerville for more than 18 years.

SQUALUS MEN LOSE EXTRA PAY

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP).—The House today rejected a bill to give squalus fishermen an extra $100 a year.

The bill, introduced by Rep. James H. Doolittle, of California, would give squalus fishermen an extra $100 a year for each year they have been in the fishery.

The bill was passed by the House last year, but was vetoed by President Roosevelt.

Japs Must Halt Drive Against Americans to Regain Treaty

WASHINGTON, July 28 (INS)—The future of America's economic and diplomatic relations with Japan today was dependent upon a complete reversal of the current two-year course of its invasion of China, administration officials said.

In the wake of President Hoover's denunciation of the 1911 treaty of commerce and friendship with the Empire of the Rising Sun, officials saw no hope for renewal of friendly trade relations with Japan unless all discriminatory measures against American interests ceased. Secretary of State Hull, who is reluctant to add comment in abrupt action Wednesday night in severing the 28-year-old treaty with Japan, clearly indicated radical adjustment of Japanese political aspirations and aims on the Asiatic continent must come before the United States can give any thought to a new treaty of commerce and friendship between the two nations.

MUST CEASE DRIVE

Hull, given Japan a free indication that the United States would shelve the basic treaty of commercial intercourse with Japan if the United States today related to commercial intercourse will come into being. The American action was the stiffest yet handed Japan since its unprovoked invasion of China two years ago. It comes in the wake of Great Britain's bending of the knee to Japanese demands, but there was no indication on the part of the American government to participate in any Oriental "Munich."

U. S. SOURCE OF SUPPLY

The effect of the White House move was brought home to Japan when it was learned termination of the treaty would pave the way for the American government to participate in the Pottman resolution, or similar action, to embargo all war supplies and essential materials to Japan.

The effect of such a powerful weapon struck home in a realization by Japan that the United States has paved the way for the application of the embargo for most of its raw materials for conduct of its large scale military invasion of the Asian continent. Should Congress decide to embargo such materials as petroleum, steel and iron and cotton, economic experts said that Japan might be forced to cease military operations in Asia. Then it would be possible to cripple Japan's war effort. The drastic action taken today by the United States against American trade with Japan, which left it up to the Japanese to decide just what its attitude would be toward normal commercial and economic interin drafting a new treaty to supplant the pact abruptly denounced by Washington.

The government, it was stated, would await American action passively during the six months' notification period before expiration of the pact January 26.

During that time officials hope the military situation in China may be improved sufficiently to permit realization of some restrictions on American business in the Orient and consequent improvement of relations.

The foreign office declared in a statement that "if the American government desires to conclude a new treaty in conformity with the new situation in East Asia, the Japanese government of course will be glad to do so."

"NO SUCH DEMAND"

However, the foreign office spokesman said that American recognition of the changed situation in East Asia (Japan's partial conquest of China) would not be a condition for signing a new treaty. "There is no such demand or inference in the statement," he said.

Whether the United States action would drive Japan closer to the Rome-Berlin axis still was a matter of speculation. It was noted that Japan was getting busy isolating Japan from other powers, to push her chief toward Germany and Italy.

Japs Getting Large Supplies From China

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The Commerce Department today said Japan was getting large supplies particularly wool and cotton from the conquered portions of China.

Other supplies, including large quantities from Chinese, maintained to Japan of wheat, beans, peas, hides, lumber, wheat bran, and oil. Japanese purchases of Chinese cotton, however, have fallen off almost 50 per cent, "presumably due to scarcity of cotton in China," the department said. Japan normally buys most of its cotton from this country.

French Marquis Reaches U. S. on Special Mission

NEWPORT, R. I., July 28 (AP)—The Marquis Henri d'Amboise of France arrived in this country today on a diplomatic mission. He sailed into the harbor aboard the bark Sea Cloud, private yacht of Joseph P. Davies, ambassador to Belgium, who was not aboard. The Sea Cloud came to Newport from Bermuda and was cleared by customs officials at request of the State Department at Washington, which requested immediate clearance to accommodate the marquis. The ship carries a crew of 70 and had seven passengers aboard, including Dr. Thomas Dugan, Dr. William A. Morgan and Mr. Davies' nephew, Joseph Davies Cheselborough.

500 British Balloons Aloft on Raid Test

LONDON, July 28 (INS)—Five hundred balloons were sent aloft over London today in the most extensive air raid defense test yet made by the Royal Air Force and the civilian A. R. P. fair raid precautions committee. The balloons, tethered to armored trucks, are designed to form a protective barrier of dangling steel wires intended to trap oncoming bombers.

Broadway Medley

MARIE WILSON ILL,
ANITA LOOS AIDS
By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, July 28 Marie Wilson, the Hollywood actress, arrived in company with Anita Loos to play in Miss Loos' show, "Gracien Prefet Blonde." The young actress therefore was placed in Anita's charge before they left Hollywood, and Marie's welfare was entrusted to the playwright's care. Marie was signed to broadcast for the "We, the People" program next week. Yesterday her physician advised her against it and she turned to Miss Loos for advice. Anita was helpful. She arranged for Marie's withdrawal and will broadcast in her stead.

TRIUMPH: Miriam Hopkins has succeeded in obtaining the leading role in the movie adaptation of "All This and Heaven Too," which Warner Bros. will produce. That coveted role originally had been assigned to Hette Davis. But Miss Hopkins was anxious to do it. She owns the rights to a story which the Warners want for Paul Muni. Miriam released those rights in return for the Hette Davis role she wanted.

PLEA: Col. Moe Snyder, who still is in a Los Angeles jail as a result of his gunplay at the home of Ruth Etting, his ex-wife—has been writing letters to a number of Broadway friends, asking them to write the authorities in his behalf and assure them that he is an upstanding citizen. "After all," the Gimp writes in this letter, giving his simple version of the bullet-ridden episode "I did not commit a bank robbery. It was only a family quarrel."

CHATTER: Sophie Tucker will fly to Hollywood today to appear in a movie for Universal. Maxine Sullivan has junked her swing versions of "Loch Lomond" and will feature an old Chinese hymn. Tony Galento has arranged with the directors of the Renault Wineries to sponsor their bubbling champagne. Tony, who appears to be doing quite well since his sensational knockout by Joe Louis, recently made a personal appearance at one of Atlantic City's smart entertainment centers.

TRAGEDY: Bruno of Hollywood, the noted photographer, was taking pictures in front of the Park Central Hotel. Directly behind him a woman fell three stories, out of a hotel window, into a fruit stand. "Bruno," the news cameraman asked him, "did you take a picture of the fall?" "Oh, no," the photographer replied. "I'm a portrait photographer."

MIRIAM HOPKINS

By GEORGE HOLLAND

MARS MAY HAVE BEEN OBSCURED but the martial spirit prevailed along the Rialto. Citizens were bopping one another in several of the gay places. The humidity was high, of course. No important casualties. James XX Fox has the last laugh on his boozers. Pressure of autograph hunters has been so great the past few days that Jimmy, in self-defense, has taken temporary quarters away from his hotel, and is living "back" with Jimmy Slim, the advertising man. Mrs. Slim is vacationing. Jimmy is at the Ritz Roof with Moe Berg, and both athletes left for home early. One of the most modest big-league, James XX has a dry sense of humor. "Many of the boys enjoy Berg's company because they feel that he is helpful to their cultural advancement," Two-X asserted. "It's different in my case. Moe is teaching me how to hit." Although he's a great "clutch" player, the popular Mr. Berg hits like John L. Lewis, wins public sympathy weakly.

FORMER GOVERNOR HURLEY will be given a "welcome home" party at the Somerset, August 3. Olin Chafford Taylor, son of the famous editor-novelist-playwright of the 1900's, and until recently a newspaperman himself, is visiting with his family at Prile's Crossing. Taylor had a fling at producing, and managed the West Palm Beach summer theater before it went up in flames. He is working on a musical play and will merge his talents next week with a famous light opera composer, in New York. Purred by the Republicans, former Civil Service Commissioner Thomas H. Green will be engaged shortly in a position of high trust. Entered in a sprint, tonight or never will see Rural Tube beaten this season at Wonderland, greyhound handicappers are betting.

A REMARKABLE RECOVERY of his watch is proving more entertaining to Charles Howard, dean of the Boston drama critics, than most of the plays he sees in the course of an ordinary season. Charles lost his watch while playing a round of golf two years ago—and also a fashionable hat. He reported the loss to the police, and yesterday he was old to visit a Washington street pawn shop and pick it up.

FEWER NEW PLAYS were essayed this season in the summer playhouses, and, as usual, most of those tried out were hopeless for Broadway. But from the Theater-by-the-Sea at Matinuck, R. I., a dramatic duo called "You Can't Eat Goldfish," is paraded as having real prospects for New York production. Ruth Chatterton is starring, and reports have it that the piece is a vehicle to convey her safely and comfortably back to Broadway. Two gals, Marcella Burke and Gladys Unger, and both pretty ones at that are the authors. "You Can't Eat Goldfish" opened Monday and will close tomorrow. Except for previous bookings, it would have been held over, but the chances are that Miss Chatterton will arrange for additional weeks in the New England "straw hat theater" sector. Jacqueline Mignac, the French blonde who dances exceptionally, is at the Westminster Roof.

ANOTHER ROMANTIC
ROLE FOR SONJA
By Louella O. Parsons

Sonja Henie

HOLLYWOOD, July 28. As you read this a fast cable is whizzing to Oslo, Norway, bidding Sonja Henie to be back in Hollywood no later than September 1 to star in "The Skating Queen." It is a role that she has wanted for a long time. Her first picture the skating queen made without departing from her figure rights, is such a success that she is anxious to get her statue on another picture.

actor ever needs is one good picture to start him up the ladder to permanent fame and might this be for young Tim, who is shortly to become a father.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Mrs. Jim Farley flies in Monday for a visit with Corinne Griffith and George Marshall. The Marshalls are living at Malibu and Mrs. F. will spend a few weeks here while her politically-minded husband is in Europe; Lynn Bari's honeymoon with Walter Kane, planned for next week, will be postponed again in favor of an appendicitis operation; Bob Cobb, popular cafe host, is on the road to recovery after a particularly trying tonsillectomy; Barbara Brewster and Bob Howard, related to Seabiscuit's family, while away the hours at the La Maza; Jerry Wanda's ex-wife, Eleanor Rudolph, yesterday became the bride of Anton Rosenberg, one-time all-American football hero; Clarence Murray, just back from Egypt, celebrated his return by taking his bride of thirty years to Siesta Masau.

LISTEN, WORLD! What Shall We Do With Nations' 'Untouchables' By Elsie Robinson

"UNCLEAN!... Unclean!... U-N-C-L-E-A-N!" One thousand years ago, that wailing word of horror made the bravest flee—while, in the emptied space, a hideous, illogical thing went shambling back to its foul cave among the graves.

"They shall cry 'Unclean!' in warning, lest those who are whole be polluted by their doomed and dying flesh." Such was the cruel law of the ancient world for its lepers. Some may have wept in pity but the stern law held.

The lepers were plainly accursed by the Gods. They had lost their place with living men and must find such shelter as they might among the buried, in caves and ruined tombs. No one might shelter them or show them compassion. And they, themselves, must give their warning when they went abroad, with the cry, "Unclean! Unclean!"

A SAVAGE ruling. Yet as vicious as one persists today in India, where Mahatma Gandhi has long fought to free India a "Untouchables" from the degradation imposed by its caste system. Like the ancient lepers, the Untouchables are a race apart from normal men. Their bodies may be whole and their minds brilliant, yet an inherent stain of birth denies them the rights of the better born. No man may contact them without pollution. They, too, must find their place among the Living Dead.

"Brutal! Unrelieved!" you say. "A hang-over from savagery! Thank heaven, we haven't anything like that in THIS country!"

But wait a minute, neighbor, and prepare for a shock! We not only have "something like that" in this country...but we have, and highly approve of, something infinitely worse! Before me, as I write, lies a letter from a young man. He is not a leper...nor a Hindu...nor a "Untouchable." To the contrary, he is healthy, husky, endowed with decent American principles. But, in his rash and muddled youth, he made several bad mistakes. Today, at 25, he is an ex-convict.

AS SUCH, HE IS AS SOCIALLY AND POLITICALLY "UNCLEAN" AS THAT SHAMBLING THING WHICH HID IN THE GRAVES OF ANCIENT JERUSALEM...AS DESPISED AS THOSE "UNTOUCHABLES" WHO ARE TABOO IN INDIA TODAY.

As a boy he was involved in several hoodlum escapades. Twice he served short terms. Released, he sought work...was offered a chauffeurs job and asked if he "had ever been convicted of a felony in which an automobile had been used." Desperate...knowing how limited were his chances of rehabilitation...he took a

In doing so he committed perjury, was returned to jail for seven months. Now he is out with a desperate desire to Go Straight. Throatily he has served his time, reformed his crime. And, theoretically, Society should remember this and give him a break. But actually, how much chance has he to regain a normal status?

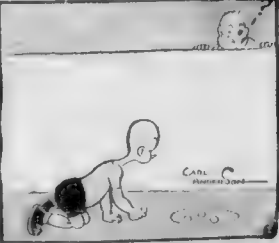

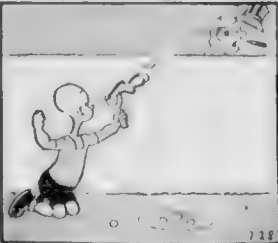

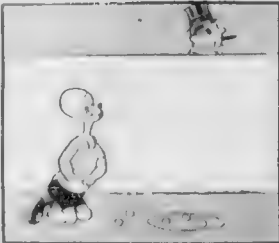

HE CANNOT VOTE. He cannot hold any federal job in army, navy or civil service. Not one out of a thousand employers will give him a job if they learn of his record. No "decent" girl would dream of marrying him. He is as truly doomed and damned as the ancient leper, the modern Untouchable. Whatever he does, he hears the cruel cry—"UNCLEAN!... U-N-C-L-E-A-N!"

IS THIS JUST? Suppose it were YOUR son...YOUR BROTHER, SWEETHEART OR HUSBAND. Suppose it were YOURSELF who was thus outlawed—how would YOU feel...what would YOU do?

MUST AMERICA'S TRAGIC AND INCREASING CASTE OF "UNTOUCHABLES" REMAIN FOREVER OUTCAST?... "UNCLEAN!... U-N-C-L-E-A-N!"

hadle with a silver lining or, rather, a heart of gold.

In jail, Cagney does Raft, like time gangster, a service and he vows he'll "smoke" him as a mark of appreciation. He, Raft, has only 100 years to go so he persuades the crime reporter to "take" the picture of the two stars. The picture is a comedy, and the two stars are in the picture for only a few minutes.

During the jailbreak Raft, who has voluntarily returned to confront a prisoner who framed Cagney, is able to wrest a confession from the man in the hooded robes of the warden and thus effect Cagney's release.

Raft is surprisingly effective and Cagney does some of his best acting in this one. An outstanding portrayal is John Wray's vicious guard, Maxie Rosenbloom, as a cunck prison pal of Cagney's injects what humor the picture has.

The second feature, "Night Work," second in the Fitch family series, has some heart-in-the-mouth moments when Carnegie makes a play for a Carnegie medal in a humanly rescue attempt. All of which makes his co-partner, Mary Boland, very proud of him. P. D.

'Hell's Kitchen' Headlines Paramount, Fenway Bills

The trouble with us is, we've got a single track mind. So when the Paramount and Fenway Theaters said: "This week 'Hell's Kitchen' with Betty Grable," why, naturally we just went right up there.

What happened? There was no quick flash of Miss G. looking at her usual wow! self in a pair of shorts and knitted sweater, and nothing else.

Dear Paramount Pictures, even Betty Grable cannot fill out a million-dollar bill concerning underpinnings in a 35-second shot. The rest of the show, which is one of the worst pictures since Middleton College, is a rather hammy college show, but directed at a break pace by Nick Grinde.

'The Champ' At Trans-Lux

Wallace Beery in one of his best roles, that of an old prize-fighter trying to make a comeback, and Jackie Cooper, as the small son who idolizes him, are the Trans-Lux stars of the week, starting today.

They are the principals of "The Champ," which boasts a sensational prize fight, a thrilling horse race at Caliente and a genuinely touching father-and-son story. He'll Have His Little Joke

Hollywood Notes

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, July 28—Maybe I shouldn't tell it, but, being a woman, I just have to give my readers this bit of inside information. Whom do you think Charlie Chaplin is considering for the role of the other dictator in his comedy? Jack Oakie, no less. The whole thing is, of course, a horseshoe and, since Charlie is not only a comedian but a director or producer in his private life, it is not any way reasonable to expect him to do it for only $1,000. But if Charlie and Henry Ford have been talking, it is not impossible that they remain to be chosen. The fact is typical of my old friend Charlie, who always "does his time" in making a picture.

No baby was ever ushered into the world with more attendant glamour than Walter Richard Lang, Jr., the new son of Madonna and Walter Lang. Waiting in an adjoining room in the Good Samaritan hospital with the anxious papa were Carole Lombard and Clark Gable. Early in the evening Hedy Lamarr accompanied by Hedy was at the hospital with her husband, Gene Markey, who is threatened with pneumonia. Carole, who is Hollywood's closest friend, had been making tests all day for "Vigil in the Night" in which she plays a nurse.

Powell-Louise Hit On Bijou Program

Through tomorrow Bijou Theater is showing "Gang Busters," with Dick Powell and Anita Louise, and "Dinner at the Ritz," co-starring Paul Lukas and Annabella. Repertory and Square screens are showing the Shirley Temple picture, "Heavenly Creatures," and "Victoria, the Great," co-starring Anna Neagle and Anton Walbrook. They will continue through tomorrow.

GINGER ROGERS' HIT TOPS---HARDYS SCORE AT LOEW'S

Keith Film Joy Throughout

By PEGGY DOYLE

If it were not for impending picture commitments, Keith-Memorial management could probably hold over "Bachelor Mother" for the rest of the summer to the welcome tune of broken boxoffice records.

Out of an ordinary Cinderella theme, a robinson of comedies has been achieved with everybody concerned rating a credit line. Ginger Rogers, robbed of her dancing-shoes, comes through as one of our first comediennees (Carole Lombard, beware!) and David Niven, her co-partner, in pseudo-parenthood, keys his performance to hers with surprising skill.

As for the direction, Garson Kanin must be quite exhausted taking bows for this in his third smash-hit directing job and him but 27 years old. He and the cast have Norman Krasna to thank for a honey of a script and G. DeSylva for a generous production and, altogether, there is just cause for jubilation in the RKO-Radio studios.

Miss Rogers, as Polly, salesgirl, pops up a baby on the steps of a founding home as she sees a woman dash away from there. Despite her denials, attendants are insistent that she is the mother. Still protesting her spinsterhood, she finds herself juggling the baby on her knee. Before this surprise development in her life she had lost her job. Now she finds she has it back plus a raise, all of which has been arranged by the founding home authorities via the boss son, David Niven.

First shocked that she would desert her baby, the boss son in short order finds himself compassionately concerned in the infant's care and feeding. There is a highly comic sequence when Niven, reading from a book on the subject, gives the formula. It subsequently develops to have turned two pages instead of one and is reading her a cure for colic.

It develops into quite a threesome, this relationship inspired by a doorstep baby and a girl and a boy who have had parenthood thrust upon them. Niven takes to meeting Ginger and little John in the park, where one day his pompous papa, Charles Coburn, sees them, puts one and one together and decides the baby is the grandson he has long wanted.

Because no one plays his role broadly, because Miss Rogers and Niven are so genuinely dismayed at the predicament in which they innocently find themselves, and because Director Kanin has kept it at a brisk and even pace, "Bachelor Mother" emerges as the summer's surprise comedy, a joy from start to finish.

Coburn, now directing at the Mohawk Drama Festival, is excellent and so are Frank Albertson, as Ginger's feckless clerk who would use her predicament to realize his ambitions, Ferike Boras, as the golden-hearted landlady, and Ernest Truex, as the earnest, well-meaning representative from the founding home. And, of course, there is that inspired performance of seven-month-old Robert Clinton, Jr., a rattling good actor.

On the same bill, "The Saint in London" co-stars George Sanders and Sally Gray in another adventure of the crusading "saint."

Hardys Frolic at Loew's

"Andy Hardy Gets Spring Fever." Mickey Rooney gets over his mugging, the Hardy family gets a honey of a script and all's well on Loew's State and Orpheum screens this week.

Which is to say that the Hardys ride again into winning position and the fans, disgruntled at Metro's release one Hardy picture back, are happy and chuckling again with Andy and the rest of the family.

It's love again for Andy and this time the object of his affection is the new dramatic teacher. She is played by lovely Helen Gilbert, newcomer to the screen who played the 'cello in the studio orchestra prior to her current picture debut.

It is all so sudden. Andy, or Mickey, is having the come because that provocative little aimful, Ann Rutherford, is being teased about by a tall and handsome naval lieutenant. He's got the navy blues bad, is abstracted at home and at school, doesn't even bother to look up in class when the school principal introduces a new teacher. But her voice gets him and the sight of her has his eyes popping.

From then on, the Judge and the rest of the Hardys hardly know their Andy. He stays up for dinner nightly without being told, never has to be told to wash behind the ears and develops a new "cultivated" voice that is as uncertain as the rain prospects.

When the class is required to write a play, as part of her dramatics training, Andy discovers he has discovered the new teacher quotes "Romeo and Juliet," a highly celebrated Shakespearean tragedy to a Tenthalian locale. He is selected to play the role of Juliet, a rear admiral and Ann Rutherford, 11. Tenthalian girl who is a claim, for Miss Gilbert has chosen him as the one to be presented as the class play.

There is a tragic moment in the night of the opening when the prop moon "does a rumba," as Andy later woefully complains, during his rear-admiral love scene with the tempting Tenthalian. But the supreme heartbreak for Andy is when he is engaged in the big love-scene, again loses to a fall and handsome rival. For, in the wings, he sees his beloved teacher engaged in the arms of "another man."

Mickey Rooney is capital in his present assignment. There will be no negligible heart-failure on the part of the grown-up boys in the audience as the Rooney's touchingly comic disillusionment bridges the present and the past for them. Miss Gilbert handles her initial screen scene with really veteran skill. She'll bear watching.

On the gram side at Metro "They All Come Out," with Tom Neal and Rita Johnson. This started out as a special feature in the "Crime Does Not Pay" series which the studio has been making in cooperation with the FBI, Department of Justice and other government departments and was later expanded to feature length.

Serve One Hot Meal Each Day

By MARTHA LEE

Contrast in the soul of good eating—or the light in its eyes anyway. That's one reason for a hot meal a day or at least one hot dish in the summertime.

Summertime will give you some practical, if less interesting, reasons for that warmer-upper daily. They all add up to good sense or better flavor, so the odds are even and the sun is a plus. The more you can do is to open up a jar of something good to heat and eat; another good practice has been found among the housewives to keep for "hot that not too hot stuff."

CREAMED LEEF AND ONIONS

3/4 oz jar of leaf, cut in pieces
2 tbsp. butter
3 tbsp. flour
Dash of pepper
2/4 cups milk
1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
12 medium-sized onions, cooked

Saute dried beef in butter until well browned. Stir in flour, add pepper, milk and Worcestershire sauce. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add onions and simmer five minutes longer. Serve on crisp buttered toast. Makes six portions.

PORK CHOPS WITH CORN DRESSING

4 cups milk
1 cup all-butter
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped celery
2 tsp. fat
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1/2 tsp. poultry seasoning
1 cup drained whole kernel corn
1 cup stock, liquid from corn
4 pork chops

Combine bread crumbs and all-butter. Cook onion and celery in fat until lightly browned; add to bread mixture with seasonings, corn and stock. Mix thoroughly. Press into baking dish. Add 1/2 inches in diameter. Add corn on top of dressing and sprinkle with salt. Cover and bake at moderate heat (375°) for about 45 minutes; uncover and bake 15 minutes longer.

Knit Angora Cape for Evenings

By ANNIE BRINK

If you've never learned to knit, you'll take lessons just as you can have this perfectly adorable evening cape of French angora. Nothin makes you look so demurely desirable as the flattering softness of this wrap. And your most glamorous evening gown.

It isn't difficult to make, either. In fact, beginners could hardly go wrong on anything so simple—and it will cost you a fraction of what you would pay for so delectable a dress in an exclusive shop.

Make one in snowy white to wear over any of your frocks, and another in your most becoming shade to wear with your black danced dress for winter festivities. And watch the at-g line come alive!

This cape is the smart hip-length, and shows your figure as well as your face, for it has a ribbed titch and squared shoulders to give you the sleek, lined look.

You may find the directing little to easy cape over your shoulders in no time, if you get to work or it immediately.

I will gladly send you directions, free of charge, if you write me at the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Millions Come To Duke Heir

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—Anthony Duquesne, Duke of Braganza, 31 years old today and the heir to a fortune of $100 million.

First he planned a slightly deferred birthday party—tomorrow night—at the Southampton residence of his mother, Mrs. T. Markoe Robt. Duquesne, 65, who he and pretty Anne, 21, will be married.

The father, Arthur Duquesne, who died in 1914, left a trust for him of $100 million. The son, who is a member of the House of Commons, is a member of the House of Commons.

Mr. BOSTON

By JACK CONWAY

DOMINIC DiMAGGIO, brother of Joe and Vince, is coming up to the big leagues next year . . . He has been batting for .350 in the Pacific Coast League, and seven major league clubs are bidding for his services.

The Yanks are among the clubs that would like to acquire Dominic. As Joe and Vince have already announced they will play for the Yankees, it is possible that the Yanks may this season have the three outfield posts held down by members of the DiMaggio family.

Dominic, like Joe and Vince, is a brilliant fielder in addition to being a good batter . . . It is unlikely he will ever equal Joe's hitting feats, but if he is able to belt the agate for an average of .300 he will be able to hold down a big league berth.

Vince DiMaggio when with the Bees proved he is one of the greatest ball hawks in baseball. His hitting is not a matter of doubt, as he has won a Toss Speaker who is generally regarded as being the best outfielder ever to wear a Boston uniform.

Vince's weakness was batting . . . He would take a terrific cut at the ball, and was more likely to strike out than he was to hit a home run.

Vince would strike out on straight balls right down the groove as well as on curve balls . . . The Bees management persuaded Vince to wear glasses as they thought his difficulty at hitting may have been due to imperfect eyesight . . . Vince continued to strike out in the clutches which caused some of the wisecrackers in the press box to remark that "DiMaggio would hit with a wing music."

At Kansas City, a Yankee farm, DiMaggio has been batting better than he did with the Bees . . . It may be that Vince does better against minor league pitching, or possibly he has overcome some of his batting weaknesses . . . If Vince could hit for .290 he would be a valuable asset for any major league club.

Yanks Bought Joe DiMaggio for $25,000

JOE DiMAGGIO was a bargain as top minor league players go . . . He was purchased by the Yanks for $25,000 . . . After the final papers were signed, Eddie Collins of the Red Sox, still believing DiMaggio was on the market, offered $65,000 for the young man who was destined to become baseball's No. 1 star.

It did not seem possible that any player could fill the gap in the Yanks' lineup caused by the loss of Babe Ruth . . . DiMaggio accomplished this feat . . . Joe is the perfect ball player in every respect . . . Brother Dominic is Joe's chief rival among the DiMaggio brothers . . . If Dominic does not go to the Yanks, the chances are he will end up with the Giants who are also bidding high and fancy for his services.

Likes Pastor's Chances

I think Bob Pastor has an excellent chance to win from Joe Louis in their second bout in Detroit on September 10. I went to see Pastor's first Boston bout with Al McCoy. I thought I would be smoking at Pastor's, a little sooner but after I saw him in action I became one of his loudest supporters.

WITH THE BROWNS at Fenway Park for the next three days, the Red Sox should have easier opposition than they experienced when Jimmy Dykes, White Sox, . . . The Browns have been having a rough standing and when the Sox opposed them in St. Louis on the last Western trip the clan of Cronin made a clean sweep of the series.

The Browns have been drawing so poorly in their home games that they will welcome a crack at the money they will get while facing the Sox . . . There are renewed reports that the St. Louis franchise will be transferred to some other city next year . . . Milwaukee has been mentioned, but the owners of the American Association club in that city will oppose any move to place them in opposition to major league baseball.

Attendance figures in the American League were sagging drastically until the Red Sox won five straight games from the Yanks, and the White Sox also started winning ball games.

Chisox Test Yanks, Hose Meet Browns

By JOE CASHMAN

Well, that wasn't at all bad, considering. Considering that the White Sox were just about the hottest thing in the league. Considering that the pitching wasn't up to snuff and the fielding worse.

No, three out of five from the White Sox was pretty good, boys.

And Joe Cronin's Red Sox should do better in the next three days—much better.

You see they'll be playing three games here with the St. Louis Browns while the White Sox are playing three games with the Yankees.

The White Sox took two out of three from the Yanks last week-end and should be just as well in this series in New York. Jimmy Dykes has his best pitching belts pinned to toss against the league leaders, including Ted Lyons and Edgar Smith.

FOX THE DARING

Eight games behind the Yanks today, are out tied Sox. It may be six by Sunday night. At least that's what the boys are rooting for. The Browns have lost ten straight games, and act as if they'll lose the next ten.

They should be duck soup for the Red Sox.

On the other hand, the White Sox will be giving the Yanks both barrels.

If the Sox can pick up a couple of games—or even one game—before Sunday night they'll be happy. Happy in the knowledge that they have four more series to play with the Yanks, and they figure they can clean up against them in future meetings just as they did a couple of weeks ago when they took all five games from McCarthy's boys to startle the nation.

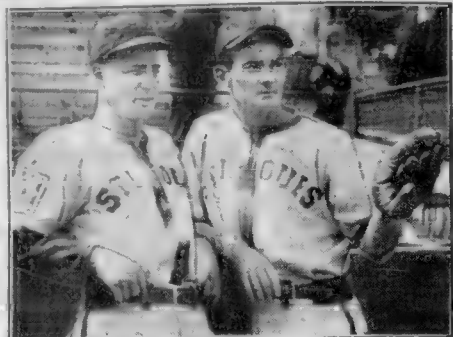

The brightest spot in the Red Sox picture is Jimmie Fox. He's been hitting viciously for the past two weeks. He's leading both leagues in home runs with 24 and he's knocked in the respectable total of 74 runs.

Fox's batting a year ago was the main reason why the Sox clinched second place in the race. He was terrific all year long. He had his ups and downs the first part of the present season but with his sinus affliction, broken finger, et al, but he's been physically sound for the past two weeks and the song his bat has been among his best synchronizing beautifully with the march of the Red Sox.

RICH LACKS CONTROL

If he keeps up his mauling, the Sox still have a chance. Eight games is a terrific handicap to overcome in two months, but a slugger like Fox can pick up half of them himself with his climactic drives.

Jimmie got his 24th homer of the season in the opening inning of the finale with the White Sox. It was a colossal clout over the left field wall and screen.

But neither that nor Tabor's excellent hitting was enough to put the Sox over behind very steadily pitching.

Woody Rich started on the hill and was raked for three runs in the first inning. The White Sox got 10 hits in six innings off him when he was taken out for a pinch-hitter—Lefty Grove of all people.

But the point is that Rich failed in his comeback feat, which doesn't brighten the Fenway picture. He didn't look like the same Woody who was mowing them down in late April and early May.

That may be traced to lack of work, for truth to tell Woody had a hard time finding the plate, issuing four damaging bases on balls. Perhaps his control will return with steady work. If it does, he'll be invaluable to the club in the vital stretch drive.

If it doesn't, well, perhaps Foxie and Ted Williams and Joe Cronin will do it without him. Catch the Yanks, we mean.

Wild Man Auker goes for the Sox today in the opener with the Browns. Vernon Kennedy is scheduled to hurl for the visitors. He was warming up when rain postponed the Browns' finale in New York.

IMAGINE IT!—Chet Laabs becomes his fate as he takes a peek at fumbling Brownie teammates who are 39 1/2 games behind the Yanks. Chet used to be with hard-hitting Tigers, who win at least half their games.

CINCINNATI REDS MAKE RUNAWAY OF SENIOR RACE

When all those scientists get through looking at Mats they might be able to pick up a little extra cash by renting their telescopes to the National League.

There is a well-founded suspicion the test of the league is about as close as it will get to the Cincinnati Reds. It may take a powerful lense to locate them from now on.

That is the consensus after the double triumph in which the Reds had the benefit of some of Paul Herringer's best pitching in the first game and some smart hitting in the second to down the always-tough Boston Bees, who have been playing .800 ball the last month.

FARGETT HERO

The league leaders won 6-1 and Fargett's eight hit bugging, but they had to go 11 innings in the afternoon. Life is tough in the National League. The Reds scored the winning run and gave them a 10-0 edge.

Although Lee thinks it was something lost their deal of the second game, the fact remains that the Reds won when three of their best pitchers pitched.

That is the consensus after the double triumph in which the Reds had the benefit of some of Paul Herringer's best pitching in the first game and some smart hitting in the second to down the always-tough Boston Bees, who have been playing .800 ball the last month.

The Cubs made their first win of the year look easy as Paul Lee stopped the Bees for 3.1, with a fast left hander, one of the best of the season.

That left only the Reds of the three pitchers to the Bees, three in the second game. The King took one on the chin from the Phils, 5-0, in the sixth.

Stengel Tries Milt Shoffner

PITTSBURGH, July 28.—Smart manager Stengel tried to defeat hand-icapped Reds by the sagacious Cincinnati Reds, the Boston Bees, in a game that was a real test of the manager's skill. The Bees won and placed second in the league, while the Reds lost the game and fell to third.

Stengel made a general change in his lineup, and Milt Shoffner, who had been in the lineup for the last game, was moved to the first base position. The change was made in the first inning.

JIM CAN LEG IT—Jimmie Fox may be no great shucks at a fielder, but he can hit that apple and he can run. He proved it in the fifth inning when he tore from first to third on Williams' single. Helped, too, for Jeems scored a moment later on Cronin's sacrifice fly. But Sox lost 12 to 7.

Elmer Layden Far Ahead In Coach Poll

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP)—Elmer Layden of Notre Dame rode far ahead of the field today in the nationwide poll to determine a head football coach for the college all stars who will face the professional champion New York Giants, Aug. 30.

At the ballot deadline at midnight Aug. 5, the coach holding the largest total vote and four others highest in their respective sections of the country will form the coaching staff.

Wooderson Quits Running for Year.

LONDON, July 28 (AP)—Sedney Wooderson, Britain's premier miler and holder of world records at one mile, 880 yards and 800 meters, announced today that he had quit running for the rest of this season because of a knee injury.

Wooderson, beaten in the Prince of Wales Stakes by Lester Piggott, scheduled to race the 1500-meter champion again at White City, August 7.

"It's a great disappointment to me," said Wooderson. "I wanted my revenge for the defeat I suffered in America."

Wooderson, 34, is the only British miler to have won the 1500-meter world record.

Supreme Court Hits Suffolk on 'Breakage'

In a far-reaching decision, the full bench of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court in an opinion written by Justice James J. Ronan today found that the Suffolk Downs race track erred in their method of computing "breakage," and ordered that it be deducted from a wagerer's share in the winnings.

The court's decision, written by Justice James J. Ronan, was a landmark ruling in the history of the Suffolk Downs race track. It was a landmark ruling in the history of the Suffolk Downs race track. It was a landmark ruling in the history of the Suffolk Downs race track.

Reds' Farms Stocked With Talent

CINCINNATI, July 28 (AP)—Talk around the Cincinnati Reds' front office was in the present tense today, but the general staff looked beyond October.

The league-leading Reds are almost in the same fix as the New York Yankees—so loaded up with future talent that they're not sure what to do with it.

Vice President Frank Lane, boss of the ten-club farm system, is afraid he'll have to plow every third man under if there's a bumper crop.

The three boys probably closest to top-flight caliber are Don Lang, third baseman for Indianapolis in the American Association; Charles "Red" Barrett, pitching in Indianapolis, whose "butterfly" ball has won eight of his last 10 starts; and Dick West, catcher for Baltimore in the International, who's hitting .337.

Lane also is keeping an eye on Al Lakeman, catcher for Erie in the Mid-Atlantic, and Outfielder Gordon Duff, who is hitting .300 for Welch in the Mountain State League.

"If anything should happen to Frank McCormick at first," Lane continued, "there's Butch Moran on the Muskogee (Okla.) team. Batted in 92 runs and is hitting .342. Twenty homers."

Other likely prospects include Charles Hawley, who's won 10 and lost three for Durham in the Piedmont; Dutch Mele, hitting .375 for Durham; Allen Hunt, who hit 423 at Durham and then .335 at Indianapolis; and Lefty John Connor, who's won nine and lost four for Albany in the Eastern.

"I guess we'll get along," said Frank generously.

SEVEN-POUND SALMON CATCH AT LONG POND BOOMS SPORT

By DARK MONTREAL

Local salmon fishing, which has been in the doldrums lately, has taken a sudden upswing, indicating that the next two weeks may be that annual midsummer period when they are "taking."

A landlocked silver Chinook—weighing seven pounds to the very ounce—was caught late yesterday afternoon at Long Pond, Plymouth, by Tom Halpin of New Bedford.

Halpin, one of the Long Pond veteran anglers, arrived at Elmer Raymond's in midafternoon with about half a pint of shrimp, all he could obtain.

"I'm going out more for the outing than anything else," he told Raymond.

Two hours later he was back with the chinook, largest taken in the pond this year to his knowledge although I hear somebody earlier caught a seven-pounder. Halpin's fish struck hard, dove for bottom and stayed there. Tom thought it was wound around the anchor rope and lost. He finally got his anchor up, played his fish onto Harry Woodward's beach and netted it there.

LOBSTER CONFERENCE

The North Atlantic Lobster Conference opens at Boothbay Harbor, Me., today and all the experts are going into a huddle on a program designed to increase lobster production in several eastern states. The phrase is that of Arthur Greenleaf, Maine's commissioner of sea and shore fisheries.

I want to say something about that. Some lobster fishermen off Plymouth, all friends or mine, were getting 20 cents a pound from the dealer last week. The dealer was selling at retail at a seven-cent pound. Yesterday the dealer was paying the lobstermen 16 cents a pound and selling retail at 35—live lobsters, I mean.

One friend of mine, who fishes 150 pots, has two cars loaded up with native lobsters, waiting for the price to edge up a little. A good many of these fellows pull their pots by hand from dories—all of them do well if they average one lobster to two pots. Most of them aren't making half money.

Why? Not because native lobster production is any lower than usual but because the crustaceans from the Maritimes are flooding the local market and driving prices down. And because some unscrupulous dealers don't hesitate to sell Nova Scotia lobsters for natives.

Greenleaf says he hopes the conference will put forth a united front against the decline in the lobster producing industry.

MUST CURB IMPORTATIONS

I hope the conference will take steps to keep importations down to a minimum during the months when our own season is at its height, and that further steps will be taken to penalize anyone misrepresenting imported lobsters as natives.

And by the way, can you tell a live native lobster from a live importation? No? Well, if the lobster's shell appears to have had a fresh coat of varnish, it's a native. If it's dull, and thicker, chances are 50 to 1 it's from New Brunswick or Nova Scotia.

be ready for a few weeks yet, reports Dave Aylward...

The personnel of the Cuban team which will defend the Alton B. Sharp Trophy at the third International Tuna Tournament at Wedgeport, N. S., in September, is as follows: Captain, Julio Sanchez; Marcelo Sanchez, Federico Mejer, Miguel Tarafa, Thorvald Sanchez and Carlos Aguilera. All except Tarafa were members of last year's winning team. They will compete with teams representing the United States, Great Britain, France and Belgium.

I have an inquiry from a reader who wants to know when and where he can obtain the best mullkallonge fishing in Lake-of-the-Woods, Wis. I don't know and I'd like to hear from somebody who does.

Trout fishermen on Maligne Lake, Jasper National Park, include Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Chartrand, of Boston, and A. S. Goodridge and Miss D. J. Goodridge, of Brockton. Dick Shaughnessy, of Dedham, and his dad, John Shaughnessy, the gun expert, will be at the National Skeet Championships in San Francisco, Aug. 3-12.

Tuna boats now fishing Ipswich Bay include Ron Crowninshield's 32-foot Honker; Paul Bauer's 38-foot Betty 2d; Justin Gries' 38-foot Poodle Pup; Bob Sewall's 40-foot sloop; Reggie Leach's 26-foot cruiser; Ed Chamberlain's 34-foot Escapade; Tony Farrell's 16th thus 2d.

Paul Sanborn is bringing his parrot up from Miami and Gordon Gibbs is expected back with his Tidal Wave. These, plus the charter boats, plus the influx of New York and New Jersey craft, plus the open craft of the hand-lining professionals, make up an anti-tuna squadron that bodes ill for the bluesins.

Aces, White Sox In Roller War

Roller football swings back into action tonight after a day's layoff with the Boston Aces meeting the New York White Sox for the third time at National League Field.

The 24 hour rest was greatly welcomed by the Gotham outfit, particularly the co-eds. The bruising battles of the first two days resulted in one girl, Buddy Calenlo, going out with a bad ankle.

During the first two games, the clock was stopped time and again because of fist fights and free for all. Because of this situation, the judges and referees met last night and decided to make the penalties much more severe.

Instead of being ruled off for two minutes, any player starting a fight goes off for five the first time and an entire period for a second offense.

Name Bill Klem Traveling Head Of N. L. Umpires

By the Associated Press

Old Bill Klem will keep busy during his convalescence by acting as traveling supervisor of National League umpires . . . Attention, Chicago Cardinals: Marshall Goldberg is getting an announcement ready.

Dean still is the news in Chicago. After he plucked back the Dodgers' ears Wednesday, the headline in every Chicago sports extra was the same: "Dean Wins, 10-3" . . . Umpire Magerkurth spent his 10-day vacation umpiring soft ball games in Moline and Rock Island, Ill. . . Madison Square Garden will experiment with women's basketball next winter.

Benny Leonard will be the first out of state referee to work in Wisconsin when he handles the Oscar Rankin-Marty Simmons fight in Milwaukee next Tuesday.

When Alice Marble came back from the European tennis wars the other day, one of the ship news reporters almost fainted her with this one: "Did you play at Wimbledon, Miss Marble?" . . . (Alice allowed as how she was present.)

Gastonia, N. C., has come up with a junior murderers' row . . . four of the five leading hitters in the tar heel league are in the Gastonia lineup. The team further resembles the Yankees by sporting a 13-game lead.

Max Baer is offered $1,000 to fight four two-minute rounds with Big Ed Murphy at Silver Brook, N. Y. . . Suffolk Downs and Narragansett may follow Rockingham and put in turntables next season . . . Paso Robles, Cal., wants the Athletics to train there next season and will not take no for an answer . . . Six of this year's eligible Hambletonian colts are by six previous winners of the trotting classic.

Three Maine Champs At Bretton Woods

Three Maine champions are entered in the swimming meet at Mt. Washington Hotel, Bretton Woods, N. H., Thursday, August 3. All three Nalads wear the colors of the Portland Boys' Club Auxiliary. Rachel Knowles is entered in 50 and 220 yard freestyle races. Mia Knowles holds all the Maine A. U. freestyle championships. Jane White, breaststroke champion, will be in 100 meters breaststroke and 100 meters backstroke.

A sister of Jane, namely Sally who is only 13 years old and present backstroke champion of the Pine Tree State, is entered in the 100 meters backstroke. Incidentally Sally won her first title race at 11 years of age.

"Boston After Dark," by George Holland, appears every day in the Boston American.

Marjorie Gestring Loses Diving Title

DES MOINES, Ia., July 28 (AP)—Marjorie Gestring of Los Angeles, finally lost her senior outdoor women's National A. U. three-meter springboard diving championship.

The 16-year-old lass, an Olympic champion at 13, dropped her title to comely Helen Cienkovich, an 18-year-old San Francisco girl. It was the same young lady who took over Marjorie's indoor title early in this year.

CROSSLEY GAINS QUARTERFINALS

By BILL GRIMES

RUMFORD, R. I., July 28—Wilfred Crossley, Norfolk, the defending champion, moved into the quarter-finals of the 14th Annual New England Amateur Championship this morning at the Wannamoisett Country Club by defeating Dave Lapham from Connecticut, 4 and 3.

Holly Mandly, Weatherfield, Ct., the medalist of the qualifying round and 1935 Hildebrandt kept pace with the Dedham boy by eliminating Leo Martin, Sandy Burr, 3 and 1.

While his twin was going down to defeat, Eddie Martin was shooting the most sensational golf of the day.

Playing against Ted Bishop, Woodland, Eddie went to the turn in 32, two under par figures, and, although he was pressed on the back nine, came through with a 2 and 1 win.

Francis Doyle, Wachusett, and Dan Shea, Jr., South Shore, who were roommates and co-owners of the Holy Cross golf team three years ago, came through with easy victories over Dr. Guy S. Hayes, North Andover, and Joe Looney, Trappe, respectively.

Doyle beat Hayes 4 and 2 and Shea hung a 3 and 4 defeat on Looney.

Eddie Peterson, Oakley, who is the dark horse of the championship, had little trouble disposing of Roy Moore, Waterville, Me., winning 5 and 3, while Sam Neild, Jr., Pawtucket, the 1935 Hildebrandt New England Junior titlist, posted a 4 and 2 win over Tommy Leonard, Jr., amateur champion of New Hampshire.

Lt. Hagberg Joins Navy Coaching Staff

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 28 (INS)—Lieut. Oscar Hagberg, former navy player and coach, joined the athletic staff at the Naval Academy as executive officer of the department.

Lieut. Hagberg won letters in football at the academy for three years and also played on the basketball team. He graduated in 1931.

Hagberg played on and helped in coach the Fleet team in 1932, and the Naval Academy in 1933, 1934 and 1936.

Tarzan Brown Wins 10 Miler

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 28 (AP)—Ellison Myer "Tarzan" Brown of Westerly, R. I., won the St. Vincent De Paul 10-mile road race over Providence streets last night in 51 min. 22 sec. Frank Darrah of the Norfolk Y. M. A. was second, Roger Labonte of the Methuen A. C. was third and Lloyd Anderson of Providence was fourth.

Brown held the early lead, then dropped back into sixth place, but came up with a rush in the last half of the race and won by 38 seconds.

Douglas Drives In Keene Races

KEENE, N. H., July 28—Mal Douglas of Taunton, Ernie Braden, of Andover, and Nick Roberts, Reading, three Bay State auto drivers, entered for Sunday's 15-mile big car race at the Safford Speedway to bring the total to 32 to date.

The cream of New England's drivers, Ed Castlerline and Bob Gardner of Massachusetts, Sonny Martin of Newmarket, Ted Harley, Danbury, Ct., George Bouley and Bud Hall, Waterbury, Ct., and Gene Trinkle, Mapleville, R. I., race against Jerry May of Schenectady, N. Y., and Lee Allen and Charlie Reynolds of Troy, N. Y. Jos Verblj of Bound Brook, N. J., badly injured in a smashup at Avon, Ct. last Sunday, was scheduled to drive.

Veterans Rally To Mose Sisco's Aid

The William Carter playgrounds in Columbus avenue will be the site of an oldtimers ball game on Sunday afternoon, when a group of former greats led by Buck O'Brien, ex-Red Sox hurler, and Jack Ryan, former Braves catcher, will clash with a team of former colored stars for the benefit of Mose Sisco.

Sisco is at the present in the Mattapan Hospital fighting tuberculosis. All of the proceeds of the game will be turned over to the hospital to help pay the bills incurred by Mose's stay.

Greyhound Fast In Exhibition

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me., July 28 (AP)—Greyhound, 1:55½, world's champion trotter, breezed over the kite-shaped mile track here in an exhibition race against time in 1:57½, lowering the track trotting record of 2:01, which he himself set four years ago.

Under "a mild driver" by Sep Palm, the grey gelding's fractional times were: 0:29 for the quarter, 0:59 at the half and 1:28 for the three-quarters.

Hearst Gold Cup Regatta Sunday

Special to Boston Evening American
LOS ANGELES, July 28—E. G. Petherick of San Francisco, Pacific Coast commissioner of the National Outboard Association, will officiate Sunday at the seventh annual Hearst perpetual gold trophy regatta in Marine Stadium, Long Beach.

Race Chairman Hal Coombes, who made the announcement today, said Rear Commodore E. H. Riesen of the 12th region of the American Power Boat Association of Los Angeles would represent that organization at the regatta.

More than 65 ent leg from Pacific Coast speedboat pilots already have been submitted. Commodore Coombes said, "indicating a probable total entry list of 125."

They will compete in seven outboard motorboat classes and two inboard divisions for a total of 27 handsome gold trophies.
